

Alexandria Gazette.

TUESDAY EVENING, MAR. 17, 18 95.

LOCAL MATTERS.

sun rises to-morrow at 6:07; and sets at 5:57. High water 9:32 a. m. and 4:57 p. m.

WEATHER PROBABILITIES.—For this section threatening weather and light rain, slightly warmer, southeasterly winds.

THE RIVER STEAMERS.—Along the river front there is a smell of fresh paint, and the steamboats are beginning to take new dresses of clean colors. Bright work is being polished, decks, hold-rooms, cabins refurnished, boiler and engine rooms overhauled, and everything made ready for the summer season on the river. The Potomac boat masters and operating companies will be as follows:

Newport News, Capt. S. A. Geoghegan, Washington, Fort Monroe and Norfolk, Norfolk and Washington Steamboat Company—Washington, Captain Tull, same ports and same company; Norfolk, same ports and same company; T. V. Arrowsmith, Capt. Ennis, all lower Potomac resorts and landings, Washington Steamboat Co. (Annapolis)—Waldorf, Captain Owens, upper landings, Colonial Beach, Colton's bay and points as far as Nomini creek; Columbia (ferry), Captain Eskridge; Belle Haven (ferry), Captain Marmaduke; Harry Randall, Capt. Richards, Potomac resorts and landings, New River Company; Mattano, Capt. Skinner, Potomac resorts and landings to Greenlaw and Massey's; Potomac, Capt. W. C. Geoghegan, Washington and Baltimore; Weems line; Sue, Capt. J. A. Geoghegan, Baltimore and Washington, same company; Charles Macalester, Capt. Ross, Washington, Mount Vernon and Marshall Hall, Mount Vernon and Marshall Hall Steamboat Company; River Queen, Capt. Carpenter, Washington to Glymont, and way landings, same company; Samuel J. Penz, Washington and River View, Southern, Washington and Buena Vista; George Leary, Washington, Glymont, and other landings, National Steamboat Company.

In addition to this fleet other steamers will only go in commission should the trade warrant it. There should also be counted in this register of craft a large number of yachts and launches, like the Bartholomew, Cecil, Lovie Randall and others. Then there are several sailing craft fitted out for cruising parties. Steamboat men promise one possibility and one certainty for the coming season. The certainty is that the Washington Steamboat Company will send the Arrowsmith up into the historic region of the bay and river of St. Mary's Maryland. In addition to the places and landings in this district, the Arrowsmith will make Colonial Beach, Leonardtown, Smith's creek, Colton's bay, St. George's island and other points on the Potomac river, Nomini creek and St. Clement's bay.

The possibility is that the great propeller now building at Newport News, as the day boat between Norfolk and Washington, for the Norfolk and Washington steamboat Company, will stop at Piney Point. Mr. John Callahan, the general manager of the company, said yesterday that this stop would be made if the wharf which it is contemplated by the lessee of the point to build out to deep water shall become an actuality.—Washington Star.

PROPOSED STREET IMPROVEMENTS.—The urgent need of street improvements in all the growing portions of Alexandria is causing those interested to consider numerous plans which are being suggested. In the north and northwestern parts, where the city is gradually growing, entire blocks of houses have been built in recent years. The roadways generally are in a bad condition during rainy weather and much inconvenience is experienced by the residents of those neighborhoods. The same state of things exists in the south, southwestern and western portion of the city where many buildings have been erected. Of course, the city is in no condition to pave all these localities, but material improvements can be made which for some years at least would be acceptable to those whose property is listed for taxation. A plan, regarded as practical by some, is to break up all the stone in the Alexandria Canal and after proper grades are obtained macadamise such streets as are in need of improvements. The city owns the property and at a small cost it could erect sheds on the ground and utilize the chain gang in breaking the stone, and should that force not be sufficient men could be employed in the prosecution of the work. Of course it is not proposed to pave every street at once, but to proceed conservatively in the matter, and should after two or three thoroughfares be improved in a year it would demonstrate that Council is willing to encourage those who are aiding in building up the city.

PROPOSED IMPROVEMENT.—Some of the persons interested in the proposed improvement of east Prince street are to circulate a petition among the property owners in that vicinity in order to bring the matter before Council. It is claimed that most of the business transacted on the river front is now concentrated on the Strand between King and Prince streets, and that the facilities for hauling freight from the wharf of the Norfolk steamers and those of the lower river boats are unsatisfactorily for the reason that to reach King street it is necessary to drive through mud and around narrow ledges, while should Prince street be cut down, as was King some years ago, a good roadway would be afforded teams. Besides, it is claimed that Prince street will eventually become the principal thoroughfare from the wharves. Nearly all the merchants on Union street and the Strand are interesting themselves in the movement.

POLICE COURT.—Mayor Strauss presiding.—The following cases were disposed of this morning:

Two men, arrested by Officers Jones and Beach for being drunk and for begging in the street, were fined $2.50 each.

Charles Williams, colored, arrested by Officer Hall for disorderly conduct in the Opera House, was fined $5.

Night Report.—Last night was misty and cool. Three prisoners and twenty-eight lodgers were at the station house.

The prices for live cattle are said to be higher now than they have been at this season for some years.

THE SCHOOLFIELD MEETINGS.

The M. E. Church South was nearly as well filled last night as on Sunday, notwithstanding the bad weather. A service of song was held for thirty minutes, during which Mr. Schoolfield arrived, and after prayer and reading of the lesson for the evening he announced that Mr. Ramsay, by request, would repeat the solo "Life's Railway to Heaven," which he did with great effectiveness, being joined in the chorus by the choir and audience. Mr. Schoolfield then announced the text, "Holiness, without which no man shall see the Lord," being a portion of the 14th verse of 12th chapter of Hebrews, and proceeded in his usual forcible manner to define what was meant by holiness.

It was not merely to be a member of some church, to be moral, honest, a good citizen, reared by Christian parents, etc., "Oh, no. The heart must be in accord with the terms laid down by the Master, which are faith, conversion, regeneration and persistence, and must extend from the cross to the crown. In other words a Christian is one who has a hearty union with Christ." To show the hold Mr. Schoolfield has upon the people during the progress of the meeting he held his open watch in his hand with the request that during the space of one-half minute each one present should ask himself the question "Have I been born again," and the silence was intense, so much so that the dropping of a pin by someone in the gallery was distinctly heard in the body of the church. At the close of the service Mr. Schoolfield gave three invitations, all of which were responded to. The first was to all who had the knowledge in their hearts, without the shadow of a doubt, that they had been saved by grace. Second, to all those who, though members of the church, were not satisfied with their condition and desired further light. Third, to those who are on the outside in utter darkness and wish to enter in and receive the light of the Gospel in their hearts. Many came forward and took Mr. Schoolfield by the hand in answer to each proposition. The meetings will be continued to-night.

The services at 11 o'clock this morning were of an interesting and edifying nature. Mr. Schoolfield chose for his subject the promises of God and took for his text the assurance of the Lord respecting the agreement between any two of his disciples concerning petitions in prayer. He was listened to attentively by all present.

FUNERALS.—The funeral of Mrs. M. E. Price, widow of Mr. B. F. Price, took place to-day from her late residence, on south Columbus street, and was very largely attended. The services were conducted by Rev. J. H. Butler, of the Baptist Church, of which Mrs. Price had been a member for many years, and the pallbearers were Messrs. Justus Schneider, John T. Nalls, B. Wheatley, Sr., E. E. Downham, J. N. C. Curtin, N. D. Rittenour, W. H. Lambert and F. A. Reed.

The funeral of the late Alexander H. Brown took place this evening at 8 o'clock from his late home on Fairfax street, and was attended by Osceola Tribe of Red Men and Mechanics' Lodge, Knights of Pythias, besides a large number of friends. The services were conducted by Rev. T. E. Carson and the pallbearers were Messrs. Richard Roland, J. S. Strider and F. J. Travers, of the Knights of Pythias, and A. Dean, J. H. Naylor, and J. P. Lash, of the Red Men.

AFTER THE LAWBREAKERS.—The Alexandria Island and Jackson City characters who were arrested by the Washington police Sunday night were brought before the Police Court yesterday morning and fined. It is said the Washington authorities are vying with those of Alexandria county in endeavors to root out the lawless element at the south end of the Long bridge and have a number of warrants for parties charged with various offenses. The conduct of many who assemble thereabouts is rendering the vicinity as bad as was California during the gold fever. The authorities are especially on the lookout for two men who are suspected of arson in causing the recent fire at Jackson City. It is said that two of the shrewdest detectives in Richmond will be detailed for work in the neighborhood, and that Gov. O'Ferrall is about to take decisive measures toward breaking up every species of lawlessness carried on in that part of Virginia. Three negro men from Jackson City were arrested in Washington yesterday for conducting policy.

SEEN IN THE CITY.—Friends and business connections in Washington of R. E. Aboe, of Enfield, Conn., are considerably alarmed over the fact that he has been missing since Wednesday of last week. He arrived in Washington last Tuesday from Williamsburg, Mass., where he had been to order a shipment of apples for a Washington firm, and was seen on that and on the following day. Having some business in this city and supposing he had come here, search was instituted, but no trace of him was found. He is about fifty years old, wears a mustache and a full chin beard, is five feet eight inches in height and is slightly deaf. It is feared that his mind is temporarily affected from a recent attack of the grippe.

SHOT AT.—A colored man named Jerry Stokes, who lives on a farm adjoining New Alexandria, was in this city to-day in a highly excited state and said that he had been shot at this morning while riding along the road by a colored man named James Mason, who was concealed behind a blind. He said the ball from Mason's gun came near his head and that he had been shot at by Mason because of an old grudge he had against him. Stokes subsequently secured a warrant from Justice Pulman for Mason's arrest.

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS.—Mr. R. H. Wattles has opened at 115 and 117 north Royal street, a store for the sale of agricultural implements, seeds and fertilizers. He is located next to the Market Building, and handy to country people who are the principal purchasers of such articles. Mr. Wattles has all the latest and improved agricultural machinery and his prices will be found to compare favorably with those of any house in this city or elsewhere.

CRADLE BROKEN.—An attempt was made this morning to haul out the steamer Dennis Simmons on the small ways at the ship yard for repairs. When the steamer had been partially hauled out the cradle parted and the steamer slid rapidly back into the river. As some time will be required to repair the ways, which were badly damaged, the steamer will not wait here, but will leave this evening for Norfolk.

PERSONAL.—Miss Mary Love, daughter of Mr. C. H. Love, of Beltsville, Md., is visiting her sister, Mrs. W. G. Plaskett, at 1301 Prince street.

Dr. Miller has written to Mayor Strauss saying that he cannot act as Health Officer to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Dr. Purvis.

Mr. George Washington is quite sick at his home on Prince street. Mr. L. M. Davis will leave here this evening for Old Point on business. Captain Ham Shepperd, Collector of Internal Revenue for the Western District of Virginia, arrived in Washington yesterday afternoon, and will remain in the city several days. He is improving in health, and looks much better than when he last visited Washington.

A BIG DEPOT.—The work of building the cofferdam for the broken pier of the Aqueduct bridge is at last completed, and in a day or so the work of pumping out the dam will be begun, as the engine for this purpose has been received at the bridge. A force of men has been kept steadily at work building the cofferdam all the winter, and the worst of the work of repair is about over. The crack in the pier will be patched up and a solid stonewall will be built around it to keep it intact in the future. As soon as this is completed the Arlington Railway Company will resume business under the new management, and will continue its line into Georgetown across this bridge, connecting with the Washington and Georgetown line at the new union depot being built near the bridge on Water street.

This union depot will be a colossal undertaking in its way. The building will be fifty-five feet in height, and a railroad will occupy each of the floors for transfer and shifting purposes.

The Washington and Georgetown road will occupy the lower floor, running into the building from Bridge street. The Arlington road will occupy the second floor, crossing the Aqueduct bridge on a raised trestle at the Georgetown end. The Great Falls electric road will enter the third floor from the west, and the Metropolitan line will run into the depot from the street grade at the head of the hill. This will give four different roads occupying the building on different floors, transferring each to any of the others in accordance with the provisions of the recent agreement entered into by the railroads of Washington. Other roads in that section of the city can be accommodated as they come into existence, as it is the intention of the District commissioners to make the depot a union depot in every sense of the word. The arrangement will give unexcelled rapid transit from the heart of the city to all sections in the District of Columbia, Maryland or Virginia to the west.

Besides the Arlington railway, it is probable that the Washington and Mount Vernon railroad will also cross the Aqueduct bridge and occupy the union depot on the same floor with the Arlington road. This would give a continuous line of railway from Great Falls or Bethesda in Maryland, or Falls Church in Virginia, to Mount Vernon, a distance of nearly forty miles.

BURGLARS AT VIENNA.—The store of A. Freeman, at Vienna, was burglarized early Saturday morning. The contents of the cash drawer, between $25 and $30, a large quantity of jewelry, pocketbooks, cutlery and other articles of merchandise were taken. The thief entered through a window. John Handy, colored, of Fall Church, who was recently released from the county jail, was suspected of the crime, and was captured at his home near Falls Church Sunday evening by Constable Jacobs. A preliminary examination was held, and he was confined in the lock-up awaiting further action. Considerable money was found on his person, besides several new watch chains, pocketbooks, razors and other articles, which were identified by Mr. Freeman as belonging to him. The shoes on his feet were identical as those taken from Newman's bakery a few nights ago. He had evidently made good use of the money in providing himself with good clothing throughout. Handy is a bad character. Several small burglaries which have occurred since his release have been attributed to him.

The Columbia Chemical Company met in this city this evening and elected directors.

FINE LINENS.

We have just placed on sale forty fine damask table cloths, subject to very slight manufacturers' imperfections. The defects are so slight as to be difficult to find, and there is only one slight imperfection in each cloth. The prices are just about two-thirds of the actual value of the goods. The patterns are choice and exclusive. This is a rare chance to obtain a really choice cloth at a nominal cost.

We offer in addition to these cloths six patterns in choice damask by the yard. Price $1, fully 25 to 33 per ct. under actual value.

Our Mattings are now open for sale, and we have never offered such good values. The goods are all jointless and the prices but a trifle more than the cheap joined goods.

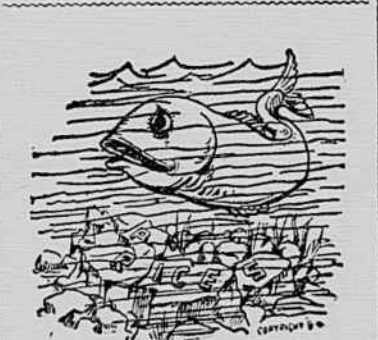

Special attention is called to the exhibit of choice cotton warp and inlaid mattings.
